

NEWS RELEASE

October 2006 - For immediate release

Depositit Disaster Recovery Links with First Recovery

First Recovery, the specialist provider of disaster recovery solutions to the SME sector has teamed up with Depositit computer backup software to provide businesses with the most secure way to keep their computer data safe. The backup software can be used by all businesses and saves all file types including emails, complicated databases, images and documents. In an emergency the company can restore it's files instantly.

Depositit Sales Director, Anthony Ryb comments:

"First Recovery have a proven track record for supplying best of breed disaster recovery solutions to the SME sector and we are very excited to be providing the technology behind the computer backup & restore element of their service. Businesses rely on their computers for everything nowadays and to be able to get their data back instantly when a crisis occurs gives ultimate peace of mind. First Recovery's free disaster recovery policy should be embraced by all businesses."

First Recovery Director, Paul Jackson comments:

"Businesses are rightly concerned about data loss. Virtually every element of a business is now run through a computer, from emails to letters to complicated graphs, presentations and databases. If the worst was to happen and the computers were to fail a business could come to a complete standstill and may never recover! However, using the First Recovery disaster recovery solution, data back up and restoration has never been simpler. There are no tapes, no discs and no faffing, the system works quietly in the background uploading data from PC, laptops or the server to secure offsite storage facilities. In the event of a disaster, data can be downloaded to new PCs and the business can be up and running almost instantly."
