January 2006 - For immediate release

Depositit Data Storage Links with the CIPR

Depositit computer backup software has teamed up with the Chartered Institute of Public Relations (CIPR) to provide their members with the most secure method of backing up and restoring computer data. Members will be able to use Depositit's software to run a daily back up which saves the critical computer files from their laptops, desktops or servers securely off-site. The backup software can be used by any PR firm large or small to save all file types, including emails, databases, images and documents. In an emergency files can be restored instantly.

Depositit Sales Director, Anthony Ryb comments:

"The CIPR is the largest association of it's kind in Europe and supports it's members with many exclusive benefits and services. Providing members with Depositit's secure backup solution demonstrates the essential need for this industry to keep computer data both safe and easily retrievable in the event of an emergency. Fire, theft, viruses and user errors occur on a daily basis and can be catastrophic. Using the Depositit service will ensure that firms can get their data back instantly and carry on working with minimum hassle and disruption".
