March 2010 - For immediate release

Ezy Solutions Partner Depositit

Ezy Solutions, a leading provider of business and customer management software have appointed Depositit, the UK's foremost business continuity service to provide their customers with the most secure way to keep their computer data safe. Depositit's proprietary backup software has been made available for all users of Ezy Solutions' software and will automatically save their critical files and databases each day, ensuring good business practice any compliance needs are met.

Depositit Sales Director, Anthony Ryb comments:

"Ezy Solutions provide a range of services for different market sectors ranging from plumbing and heating merchants to landscape gardeners, pubs and health/leisure complexes. The common factor between all these businesses is they need to ensure their data is backed up securely each day and is quickly available for restore in an emergency. The Depositit backup provision is a cost effective and essential tool for all companies needing to safeguard their critical data and it's great to see and work with a software provider that's encouraging its customer's to backup."

Ezy Solutions Sales Director, Paul Holden comments:

"Every business must be concerned about data loss and its general ramifications. All the companies we work with take data security and backing up very seriously, so we needed to offer them a best of breed backup service and after scouring the market, Depositit in our opinion is the right service to be used. Our solutions create databases and other files that need to be safely backed up and there is also a call recording feature which can be more demanding on a backup service so assuring this is safe is critical, and Depositit manages it very well."
